It is very sad that the residents of Shippon have to record their comments in opposition to the plan by the VWH to change the Green Belt status of the village.

The planning stages of the Local Plan has taken over 2 years to reach this stage with amendments and changes being introduced constantly. It appears that local Council planning is as disorganised as the Nation one.

There is one final change that they can make and that is to listen to the residents of Shippon and keep it in the Green Belt.

The latest plan appears to be to build 1200 houses on the Southern end of the airfield right up to the boundary of the village. The number of houses making up the village is about 600 so the present plan is going to treble the size of Shippon so removing its small village status.

The eventual plan after the Army leave is to build on the barracks site, so why isn't the initial 1200 house development being built North of the present Shippon area so that it is adjacent to the proposed Barracks development, so avoiding urban sprawl.

Developments of this nature generate substantial financial benefits to both landers and builders. The MOD acquired the airfield in the 1920's at agricultural values and subsequently added to the area due to World War 2. I suggest anyone benefitting from the developement should be invited to financially provide funds for the social,medical and educational facilities required.

Ther appears to be very few plans to provide for the transport infrastructure to support such a large development. No doubt the impact on Shippon which is already suffering from large volumes of traffic will be substantial.

I decided to live in Shippon because it was a small village and from my house I have unlimited views across the airfield which is going to be replaced by rows of houses .

I consider this plan to swamp Shippon with houses when there is so much space on the airfield is totally unjustified. This plan has to be revised before the resulting negative impact on people's lives are changed irrevocably.
