16th December 2020

To all who work in local governments,

As 2020 draws to a close and we reflect on an exceptionally challenging year for us all, I wanted to write and thank you for your service to your local communities these past months.

There is much to be proud of, from local governments role in social care, testing and now the roll out of vaccines, to your unfailing support for the most vulnerable from the shielded to rough-sleepers, to the support you have provided for local businesses and enterprises. And all at the same time as you have kept the country moving, from keeping schools open to collecting the bins.
Some of your achievements have been heroic. Others are small acts of kindness and compassion, which together made this period more bearable and more humane.
Thank you and merry Christmas. Robert.
