For good causes we need details of your good cause, such as the charity number and bank details, but also personal data of contacts for your organisation. Currently we collect and process your name and contact details although we may directly request additional information about your organisation.

How we collect and use your data

In most cases, we will only have personal data that you provide to us and this is normally submitted directly through the Lottery website.

We will also collect payment details from you to enable you to pay for your lottery tickets. If you do not wish to provide this information, unfortunately you will not be able to participate in the Lottery.

For good causes we need to collect information to verify that your organisation qualifies to be part of the scheme and to contact you regarding participation in the scheme.

The lawful basis in data protection terms for the collection and processing of your personal data is that you have given your consent. We could not operate the Lottery and benefit good causes without it, and your rights and freedoms are not prejudiced by this.

You have the right to withdraw consent at any time and you can do this by notifying us in writing by email to support@whitehorselottery.co.uk If you do withdraw your consent, it will not affect the lawfulness of any processing for which we had consent before you withdrew it.

Who we share your data with

Gatherwell collects your personal data on behalf of the Promoter to administer the Lottery. The good cause may also use this information to communicate with you about the Lottery if you consent to it. This information is shared pursuant to the contract between the Promoter and Gatherwell to conduct the Lottery.

We don't use any computers or automated means to make decisions about you based on the information that you provide.

We engage reputable third parties to provide us with software functionality to assist us in processing your personal data, necessary to enable us to effectively deliver the Lottery.
